

UTILITIES BOARD IS ASKED TO STOP SMOKE NUISANCE

Must Have Legal Advice Before Acting on Complaint of Bronx People.

READY FOR REAL ACTION

For Two Weeks Agents Have Tabbed Every Car Across the Bridge.

The Public Service Commission met in open session today. Commissioner McCarrall presided. Chief Engineer Rice reported that, "in view of the general question regarding the progress of the work on Flatbush avenue, Brooklyn, and in view of the fact that all the steel for this section has been delivered, I respectfully recommend that more rapid progress might be made if the sub-contractors were required to work both day and night on Flatbush avenue and the west approach to the Nevins street station in Fulton street. In view of the recent complaints as to the insufficient facilities afforded for access between the sidewalk and the street opposite buildings adjoining Nevins street station, I recommend that the contractor should be directed to do only at night or on Sundays such work as interferes with or blocks certain entrances."

The report was referred to special committee.

A complaint was received about the smoke nuisance by the New York & New Haven Railroad, in the Bronx. As the question of the legal authority of the board to deal with the matter was raised, the proposition was referred to counsel.

A plea for the proposed Mone-Rail route between South Ferry and Coney Island was received from the Central and Smith Street Board of Trade. It was referred to committee. The petition to have the Third Avenue express stop at One Hundred and Sixth street was referred to the committee.

Line on Bridge Crush.

Who says the Public Utilities Commissioners have gone to sleep? They are busy every day, and have been for two weeks, with maps, pencils and stop-watches keeping a daily record of the congestion at the Brooklyn Bridge.

It is expected they will finish their bridge investigations by Saturday, and then give their undivided attention to the prevailing conditions in the Subway, and on the "L" and surface roads of Manhattan.

Brooklynites have been mystified for some days past at the busy appearance of men at both ends of the bridge and at the Bridge station stop of the Fulton street "L" using stop-watches and making notes of every train.

Inquiry to-day revealed that a staff of time-keepers have been at work under the direction of the Utilities Commission securing data for them to take action on the bridge crush and to obtain evidence necessary for better service by the B. R. T. management.

"This week the Utilities Commission is devoting its attention to the 'L' trains on the bridge. The same procedure and investigation is being adhered to as at the trolley loops."

When the record is completed Chairman Willcox will receive the reports and the Commission will clear for action.
